

Leyro Instruments pressure transducers features of the German firm ARMATURENBAU. To determine the pressure, absolute pressure, vacuum or differential pressure. In our offer you will find pressure gauges for air and liquids, as well as insurance and protection from the outside transducers.

All transducers have our serial number and ensure high accuracy and reliability. Its dust resistant casing and splash water make these instruments suitable for industrial or research and development. There are multiple measuring ranges (you will find the appropriate device for each application). There are also ISO 9000 Certification and components. We provide pressure transducers in our standard offer with any kind of range and process connection (please contact us if you need and our specialists will give you the best solution).